

Guy Weets

Guy Weets is member of the AMRA research team as expert in the IT and risk management areas. He has a fair knowledge of Africa needs and capacities mainly in the ICT and disaster management field as technical coordinator of the IRMA project (Integrated Risk Management for Africa). and through active participation to conferences and workshops such as IPv& forum 2006 In Dakar, IST Africa 2007 in Windhoek Namibia.

Guy Weets received his Dipl.-Ing. Degree from the University of Brussels (ULB) in 1968. From 1970 to 1990 he worked for IBM mainly in the field scientific and engineering applications and telecommunication networks. In 1990 he joined the EC to develop new R&D programmes in the field of telematics applications of general interest. In 2000 he joined the Unit “ICT for environmental applications” where he has been in charge of the sector “ICT for Disaster Risk Management”. Since July 2007 he established DRMC-Europe a consultancy company specialised in the field of disaster risk management. He is author or co-author of several technical and policy papers in this field. He is the chairman of the research committee of the Public Safety Communication forum an international not for profit organisation aimed at promoting best practices fostering consensus between stakeholders on standardisation issues and on the roadmap for future research in the field of public safety and emergency telecommunications.